Frequently Asked Questions about magazine publishing

Should I use my print PDF or do I need to prepare new layout?

CoverPage works perfectly with PDFs, even those for printing production. Just need to change to RGB coloring.

The problem might occur while reading in tablet. The letters might be smaller and zooming could be needed on older devices with no retina display. We always recommend preparing special layout for tablet version of your magazine. It looks more luxurious, special and valuable.

How does the navigation through magazine with CoverPage works?

There is a horizontal navigation through the project. Taking previous user experiences into consideration, we decided to keep it simple for now. Pages are changing by swiping gesture. You can use scroll tool, which partially substitute vertical navigation. Users can have a different reading experience by adding scrolls into the projects.

What happens with my magazine if readers rotate their iPads?

CoverPage is designed for one page view only for now.

When rotating the tablet, page rotates as well and resizes its layout to fill the tablet's display dimension. Soon you will have the choice of 2 pages layout available as a part of CoverPage Publisher features.

Do I an need Apple Dev Account?

We highly recommend to create you own Apple Developer Account. All revenues will go directly to your bank account.

We don't take any revenue shares. With your Apple Developer Account you have full control over your App, including pricing, apple statistics and marketing tools.

How can I publish to Android Market?

We build an Android Application package file (APK) for you and you simply upload this file to your Google Play account. Define price, description or any required information and publish.*

What is White labeling feature for my App?

If you want to look more professional with only your branding we have an offer of White labeling. All Apps based on CoverPage platform are coming with small CoverPage logo on splash screen and its copyright in information window. You can use White label feature and have your app without any CoverPage branding.

What platforms do you use?

CoverPage platform is multi platform solution. You can publish content for iPad, iPhone, Desktop and Android*.

Android Reader is in Beta version without interactive and multimedia features. Full version is coming up.*

Thank you for choosing CoverPage for your digital publishing.
