

Green text appears against a black background.

Text appears: I'm ready to enter this new arena.

The camera rotates to reveal a black and green headset floating in a living room—the Razer Kaira Pro for Xbox.

The screen splits in half as the headset appears beside a black and green controller—the Razer Wolverine V2 Chroma.

Text appears: But I won't be alone.

The screen wipes away to reveal the side view of a gamer wearing the headset.

Text appears: I will hear my enemies. Loud and clear.

The gamer shouts with passion, as text materializes into a speech bubble.

Text appears: And my teammates will hear me too.

The camera shifts downwards as the controller drops into view, against a background of action-packed gameplay.

Text appears: I will be tested by the chaos of battle.

A pair of hands wrap around the controller.

Text appears: But I will have absolute control.

We cut to gameplay of an exciting skirmish with weapon fire from all angles, as the player captures an objective.

Text appears: No matter how many foes I face, my plan always stays in place.

Text appears: Halo Infinite.

Against a black and green background, we see letters start to take shape around the controller and headset.

Text appears: Razer Wolverine V2 Chroma. Razer Kaira Pro.

Text appears: Connect. Compete. Conquer.

Against a black background, one final statement is made.

Text appears: And I will only get stronger.

Razer Chroma RGB logo appears.

Razer logo appears.