With an annual budget of $1.6 billion and more than 6,000 employees, the Department is one of the largest public health agencies in the world. Every day, DOHMH protects and promotes the health of over 8 million New Yorkers.

NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene

The buildings are multi-storied with ornate architectural details, including decorative iron fire escapes and wrought-iron railings on the steps leading to the entrances. The scene is captured during the day, with some trees visible on the left side of the frame.

NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene

- DOHMH is also one of the nation's oldest public health agencies, with more than 200 years of leadership in the field.
- Health equity is central to the Department's work which is why racial justice is a priority. DOHMH is tackling these issues with innovative policies and programs, and getting exceptional results
- Towards the goal of eliminating preventable COVID-19 mortality (ECM), DOHMH has administered 7.5 million doses of COVID-19 Vaccines to date.

Medicaid Expansion Outreach for Undocumented Older New Yorkers

Project Background

- The New York State FY23 Enacted Budget expanded Medicaid eligibility to undocumented immigrants aged 65 and older with incomes at or below 138% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). This Medicaid eligibility expansion took effect during the first quarter of the calendar year 2024.
- Undocumented low-income New Yorkers ages 65 and older struggle to meet their health care access needs, especially in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic.
- The messaging, outreach, and education that accompanies policy changes around access to health insurance and care is particularly important when engaging communities that have previously not been able to access health insurance due to immigration status-based exclusions.

Project Objectives

- Amplify City messaging to encourage undocumented New Yorkers aged 65 and older to enroll in the newly expanded Medicaid-managed care insurance plan.
- Enroll newly eligible individuals into Medicaid.
