

WARNING: Marijuana Laced with Fentanyl

What is it?

The HNHU has received reports of marijuana cut with fentanyl.

People may not be aware that they are consuming it as it can be disguised as other drugs.

As little as a grain of fentanyl is enough to harm and cause you to overdose.

All opioids (prescription and non-prescription) have a risk of overdose.

What to do

Don't use alone

Carry a naloxone kit

Test your drug by doing a small amount at first.

Report tainted drugs and overdoses anonymously at hnhu.org/opioids

Signs of an Opioid Overdose:

Person can't stay awake

Slow or no pulse

Slow or no breathing, gurgling

Skin looks pale, grey, or blue, feels cold

Pupils are pinpoint or eyes rolled back

Body is limp, will not respond to noise or stimulation

Where to get Naloxone:

Many local pharmacies.

Haldimand-Norfolk Health Unit offices.
