10 GENERAL INFORMATION

10.1 Brief Introduction to Tokyo

Tokyo, the capital of Japan, is one of the major cities of the world with a population of 12.6 million. Its long history of prosperity started with the establishment of the Shogunate by Tokugawa leyasu in 1603. At that time, Tokyo was called Edo, which by the 18th century had grown into a huge city with a population of over one million. It is now Japan's center for political, economic, and cultural activities.

Located geographically at about the center of the Japanese archipelago, Tokyo occupies only 0.6% of the national land, the third smallest of the 47 administrative divisions of the country. As the land unfolds from east to west, there are hills, plateaus, and mountains scattered around the city. Small as it is, Tokyo's geographical features are rich in variety, comprised of low lands only 4 meters above sea-level and mountainous areas of over 2000 meters. In addition, it must be noted that certain volcanic islands in the Pacific such as the Izu and Ogasawara Islands are also part of Tokyo.

For more information on Tokyo, see also http://fr.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tokyo http://www.tourism.metro.tokyo.jp/english/

10.2 Time

All of Japan is in the same time zone, 9 hours ahead of GMT. No Daylight Saving Time is practiced.

10.3 Weather

In early September in Tokyo, it is still hot and humid and the temperature rises above 30°C in the daytime.

10.4 Currency and Money Exchange

There is no limit on the amount of any currency that may be brought into or taken out of Japan. However, travelers carrying more than the equivalent of 1,000,000 Japanese yen must complete a customs declaration. This applies to all currencies, checks, securities or other monies.

Japanese yen can be purchased at foreign exchange banks, international airports and other authorized money exchangers. The exchange rate fluctuates daily depending on the money market. The exchange rate as of 27 July 2007 was 1 US dollar to 119 yen, 1 Euro to 166 yen. Money exchange services are also available at the hotels which generally accept US dollars and Euros. However, commissions at hotels are usually higher than those at banks.

In major cities in Japan including Tokyo, Travelers Checks are accepted by leading banks, hotels and stores. International credit cards are also acceptable at these major establishments. Foreign credit and cash cards can be used at the post office and the Seven Bank ATM.

10.5 Tax and Tipping

There is no custom of individual tipping in Japan. Instead, a service charge will be included in the bill where applicable. The consumption tax is 5%, which is already included in the indicated price.

10.6 Electricity

Voltage in Japan is 100 volts and the frequency ranges from 50 to 60 hertz depending on the area (eastern Japan including Tokyo is 50 hertz). The socket is type A, which has two flat plug holes.

10.7 Driving

To drive cars in Japan, one of the following driver's licenses is required:

- (1) Driver's license issued by the Public Safety Commission of Japan;
- (2) International driver's license obtained in accordance with the Geneva Convention of 1949;
- (3) Driver's licenses issued in the three countries of Switzerland, Germany and France. Moreover, the Japanese translation of the license is needed. The translation is issued by the respective Embassy in Japan or JAF (Japan Automobile Federation).

10.8 Postal Service

Post offices are generally open from Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Certain offices are open on Saturdays and Sundays. The hotel reception desks will also be able to assist you with postal and courier services.
