Our organization encouraged two NGOs in the field of ICH to prepare and submit their applications to be a UNESCO-accredited NGO. We worked with these NGOs to help them see what they need to improve or change in order to be part of the accreditation mechanism. This process, shaped by the contribution of and consultation to our organization, has served to increase their institutional capacities. On the other hand, majority of our members and administration are academics, teaching and studying in the field of ICH

1. In case your organization operates in several States, please indicate clearly which State or States are concerned by your answers where appropriate.
2. For further information on the Overall Results Framework, please refer to the Chapter 8 of the Basic Texts of the 2003 Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage: <https://ich.unesco.org/en/basic-texts-00503> for years now. So taking advantage of this profile, we teach, train and graduate students on bachelors, masters and PhD level, thus contributing to develop human capacities for safeguarding intangible cultural heritage. In addition, we are one of the stakeholders of the Winter Schools on ICH since 2017. As these series of trainings focus on capacity building of experts, teachers, NGOs and local administrations, our organization, being an active part of the Winters Schools, directly help to build human capacities.

B.2. Describe your organization's participation in activities related to the transmission of and education for intangible cultural heritage. Explain, in particular, how your organization cooperates with communities, groups and, where relevant, individuals.

Turkish National Commission for UNESCO, UNESCO Chair on Intangible Cultural Heritage in Formal and Informal Education, local administrations and development agencies (the last two as hosts) organize "Winter Schools" on ICH since 2017. These meetings are dedicated to empower transmission and education of intangible cultural heritage. So, our organization, within its network of NGOs, works to increase the participation of other relevant NGOs to the training and help increase the reach of the Winter School among civil society. In addition, Ankara Intangible Cultural Heritage Museum which was established in 2013, is a close partner to our organization and welcomes thousands of guests, most of whom are school groups. Through the museum's channel, we conducted many workshops, storytelling events and hands-on activities aimed at not only people living in the museum's neighbourhood but also relevant tradition bearers, masters and practitioners.

Two administrative-level members of our NGO are also the members of the ICH Provincial Identification Boards of Ankara, within the body the Ministry of Culture and Tourism, which is the competent body of the 2003 Convention in Türkiye. The board is the first body that processes the applications on ICH elements to be included in provincial inventory. So, being one of the partners of the board, members of our organization have a voice in the examination of files submitted to the provincial inventory. In addition, the board regularly conducts field research to identify ICH elements in Ankara and proposes relevant elements to be included in the inventory. The members of the board, two of which are from our organization, attend to the field research aimed at inventorying.

The Municipality of Gölbaşı (one of the districts of Ankara) plans to establish an ICH Museum in 2023. In this respect, the Municipality invited us to coordinate field research that aims to collect and then classify materials to start an inventory. The members of our organization organized the field visits in collaboration with the municipality and cooperated with people on the ground, visiting 43 villages and promoting ICH and the museum initiative among people living in the villages.

Turkish National Commission for UNESCO formed ad-hoc working group on "Intangible Cultural Heritage and Legislation." As it is the first initiative of its kind, it was an important experience to be included in the group. The group was in operation in 2019-2022, examining existing policy texts to identify aspects that are related to ICH safeguarding. One of the three members of the working group is a member of our organization. The group prepared a draft legislation text on ICH that later was sent to the Ministry of Culture and Tourism for future consultation to form a legislation. So, our approach and experience as an NGO in the field of ICH were reflected on the draft legislation.

Our NGO, in collaboration with the Ankara Intangible Cultural Heritage Museum, organizes joint activities such as workshops and seminars. These events are arranged and scheduled with reference to special occasions and UNESCO's commemorations and anniversaries. In this context, our organization takes the advantage of such occasions to reach out and cooperate with communities, groups and individuals to promote the visibility, function and role of intangible cultural heritage and its safeguarding in society. In addition, our NGO also pays attention to address the inclusion of disadvantaged groups in promotion and awareness-raising activities. For example, in cooperation with the Museum, we organized two workshops on Mangala (traditional intelligence and strategy game-inscribed on the Representative List) for visually-impaired pupils on the occasion of the International Day of Persons with Disabilities on December 3 in 2021 and 2022. Similarly, we visited the School for Physically Impaired Children and played traditional children's games in the event "Let's Remove the Barriers for our Stamented Children." Last but not least, we also organized a visit to the Nursing Home in Ankara (2018) and made a storytelling event, in addition to the performance of Karagöz (traditional shadow theatre) for the people living there. The event, conducted by the undergraduate students who study Turkish folklore, served as a good opportunity to strengthen intergenerational dialogue as well.

Another activity that is relevant to the purpose is the "online museum visits to Ankara Intangible Cultural Heritage Museum" (April 2021) that was conducted jointly with the Metropolitan Municipality of Ankara, Turkish National Commission for UNESCO and Ankara Intangible Cultural Heritage Museum. One member of our NGO was a guest speaker and moderator in the biennial event "Grand Gathering of the Turkish National Commission for UNESCO" where our colleague had the opportunity to deliver a speech on the significance of the UNESCO's accreditation mechanism and the ways how NGOs can contribute to the implementation to the 2003 Convention.
