

There is no doubt
B2B commerce is ready for a change.
Today's businesses
are drowning
in a sea of tools and apps, making the purchase experience harder than it needs to be.
Something as important as your customers purchase experience shouldn't be this painful.
That's why at HubSpot,
we are doubling down on B2B commerce.
Commerce Hub brings together everything you need from managing and accepting payments,
to invoices, subscriptions,
and payment schedules.
Giving your teams a better way to sell, and your customers an easier way to buy.
And we have gone global.
We've integrated with Stripe to offer local payment methods and currencies to HubSpot customers worldwide.
Plus, Commerce Hub is now available to those using HubSpot's free tools.
When it comes to our approach to B2B commerce, simplicity is everything.

That's why you can go into HubSpot and enable Commerce Hub through a seamless self-service experience.

And streamlining your B2B commerce doesn't stop there.

We've expanded Commerce Hub's billing capabilities to effortlessly manage invoices, subscriptions, and payment schedules.

Finance and accounting

teams will also love

our new QuickBooks integration.

It supports two-way sync for invoices and payments.

As payments become easier,

your business will grow and we will grow with you.

We've now introduced

APIs for payments,

invoices, and subscriptions.

At HubSpot,

we know the power of a seamless purchase experience.

That's why

we are giving B2B commerce the upgrade it needs.

See all Commerce Hub has to offer in the Spring Spotlight.