

Prevent Disputes on Recurring Transactions

DON'T do business
WITHOUT IT™

Here are some tips for protecting your business from costly disputes on recurring Card Member transactions. If a potential dispute is raised, please take the following important three steps:

- Respond to us by the reply by date.
- Submit all requested documentation and any additional relevant information.
- Completely address the dispute reason in your written response.

Handling purchases

- Disclose terms of billing and cancellation clearly and prominently to make the cancellation process easy for Card Members.
- Send confirmation notification outlining the frequency of payments, cancellation policy, process and contractual time frames.
- Send reminders for upcoming payments and notify Card Members of any changes.

Cancelling payments

- Encourage Card Members to contact you directly for any concerns and cancellations.
- Ensure your cancellation process is clear and simple.
- Cancel recurring payments immediately when you receive a request to discontinue them.

Responding to a dispute

- Respond with proof that Card Members provided consent to be billed on a recurring basis.
- Include a copy of the cancellation policy to which Card Members agreed.
- Provide confirmation of cancellation of recurring payment.

For free trials

- Send enrollment notification to Card Members and keep documentation.
- Send reminder notifications before submitting recurring billing charges, giving Card Members a fair amount of time to cancel.

To avoid complications

- If Card Members cancel before contract expiration, stop recurring transactions on American Express® Credit Cards and make alternative payment arrangements to fulfill contract.
- Ensure your business name, website and customer service number is updated on all customer communications.

For cancellations

- If you receive a chargeback but have no record of the request to cancel, please discontinue recurring payments immediately and respond with requested documentation.
- Once you've cancelled, contact Card Members directly to make alternative payment arrangements to fulfill any remaining contract terms.

To learn more about how to protect your business, visit americanexpress.com/managedisputes.