

Join the Energy Institute as a Learning Affiliate and plug your students into energy

Join the energy debate

The Energy Institute (EI) is the professional membership body bringing global energy expertise together to tackle urgent global challenges.

Learning Affiliate status is a partnership between the EI and universities, colleges and other educational institutions like yours who support the values of the EI and participate actively in the energy sector.

Passionate about a positive energy future for your students? Keen to connect with others and show your institution's commitment to developing knowledge, skill and good practice? Come and join us!

Why join us?

You'll be part of the only professional body covering the whole energy sector, from environmentalists to engineers, technicians to analysts, subject experts and innovators who work in and contribute to energy in all its forms.

Becoming a Learning Affiliate connects your students to professionals in the energy sector and gives them a wider perspective – students are provided with additional support throughout their studies, setting them on the path to professional qualifications.

For your students

- Free Student membership for the duration of their studies, plugging them directly into the sector
- They'll be in the know - read the latest news and views from industry experts in our e-magazines and bi-monthly bulletin, Energy Student
- Knowledge at their fingertips - use of the Library and information service, containing thousands of energy resources and reference information online
- They'll be supported - we offer a range of services to enhance your students' career prospects and professional development, plus dedicated advice and support from our team
- They'll be connected - access to networks, branches, events and meet-up opportunities

For your organisation

- Raise your profile in the sector with use of the Learning Affiliate logo on your promotional materials indicating your commitment to supporting education and skills in energy
- Two free EI Affiliate memberships for the staff you appoint to be your key contacts with the EI
- Upskill your team with discounted access to EI events and training for your staff
- Increase your visibility through advertising opportunities in EI publications
- Create a community - we will help you with communications you can use with your students to make the most of your membership

Plus, holding Learning Affiliate status means you are eligible to apply for EI accreditation or approval of your programmes.

Who can apply?

To be eligible for Learning Affiliate status, your institution will need to:

- Be an educational establishment
- Identify a department (or equivalent) the membership can cover
- Support the EI's mission to promote knowledge, skills, and good practice for the benefit of society
- Offer programmes relevant to the energy sector

You will be expected to:

- Actively promote membership of the EI to your students
- Be passionate about energy and playing your part in delivering a low carbon future
- Encourage young professionals to achieve professional qualifications in energy

If you offer a programme that you are proud of and are passionate about providing a quality learning experience, it makes sense to shout about it as an EI recognised Learning Affiliate.
