

Hydrocarbons from Shale in North America

Tuesday, 9 May 2017

The Worshipful Company of Fuellers is pleased to announce the latest 'Conversation' evening that examines some of the challenges facing the energy industry.

About The Worshipful Company of Fuellers

The Worshipful Company of the Fuellers is 95th in the distinguished roll of the 109 Livery Companies of the City of London. Whilst the history of the Fuellers is steeped in coal and its origins can be traced back to Woodmongers in the 14th Century, the Fuellers diversified in recent years, now representing all sectors in the energy industry. The present membership, open to those engaged in or having a significant interest in the energy industry, includes representatives from the coal, oil, nuclear, gas, electricity and renewable energy industries.

About EY

The energy sector is constantly changing. Price volatility and market uncertainty, geopolitical risks, growing demand in developing countries, significant changes in the supply environment and the need to invest in new infrastructure.

At EY we understand energy. Whether working with utility companies to meet the challenges of an ever demanding consumer, advising on utility asset investments, providing funding advice for large scale renewable projects or helping high energy users optimise their energy consumption. Our people take a pragmatic, holistic and commercial view of energy needs offering advice around the globe. We recognise that managing energy is now an issue for every organisation. With an increasing focus on sustainable business as a prerequisite for success, we can help organisations create long-term value by embracing opportunities and managing risks from environmental, social and economic factors.

Dr Jim Buckee

Ex-Chairman, EnQuest PLC

James Buckee holds a BSc Honours degree in Physics and a PhD in Astrophysics. Between 1971 and 1987, James held various petroleum engineering positions with Shell International, Burma Oil and BP, and worked in many different locations including Norway, Aberdeen, New Zealand, Australia, Qatar, Alaska and London. In 1987 James was appointed as operations manager for BP Norway, and thereafter vice-president, development programmes, for BP Alaska. In 1989 James returned to the UK as manager, planning, for BP Exploration. In 1991 he was appointed president and chief operating officer of BP Canada Inc. In 1993 James became president and chief executive officer of Talisman Energy Inc. (Talisman). During his tenure, Talisman experienced very significant growth, with operations ultimately covering over 20 countries, annual production rising to over 500,000 barrels per day and annual capital expenditure rising to approximately $5 billion. James retired from Talisman in 2007.

Other principal external appointments: Non-executive director of Magma Global and Black Swan Energy. James is also on the advisory board of KERN partners.
